GREEK :—Sophocles' and Crosby's Grammar, Owen's Reader; Greek Testament; Crosby's Anabasis; Owen's Iliad and Odyssey; and Liddell and Scott's Lexicon.

The following books are recommended for reference :—Zumpt's Latin Grammar; Buttmann's Greek Do.; Smith's Classical Dictionary and Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

FRENCH :—Greene's First Lessons; Value's Ollendorf: De Fiva's Classical Reader; Collot's Dramatic Reader; Spiers and Surenne's Pronouncing Dictionary preferred.

GERMAN :—Adler's Ollendorf and Reader; Grimm's Tales; Schiller's Dramas; Adler's Dictionary.

MUSIC.

Bertini's Method for the Piano-forte. If Czerny's works be preferred, the full edition is recommended.

IN ENGLISH BRANCHES.

Mathematics :—Colburn's Intellectual Arithmetic, Adams's Arithmetic, revised edition; Day's Algebra, Trigonometry and Mensuration, Robinson's Algebra, University edition; Davies' Surveying, Playfair's Euclid, Olmsted's School Philosophy, Stœckhardt's Chemistry, Olmsted's Astronomy.

Natural Sciences :—Mitchell's Geography, Wood's Botany and First Lessons, Jarvis's Physiology, 2d edition: Hitchcock's Geology, Chamber's Zoology.

History :—Frost's History of the United States, Goldsmith's Greece and Rome, Pinnock's Goldsmith's England, Worcester's Universal History.

English Grammar, &c. :—Quackenbos' First Lessons in English Composition, Wells's Grammar, Newman's Rhetoric, Latham's Hand-book of the English Language, and Fowler's English Language in its Elements and Forms.

Miscellaneous :—Upham's Intellectual Philosophy, Wayland's Moral Science, Harris's Book-Keeping.

Reading and Spelling, the writing of Compositions, Declamations and Rehearsals, are attended to by all, without further text books than those mentioned above, except that Russell's Works on Elocution and Webster's Dictionary are often referred to or regularly used.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Academical Year is divided into four terms, of eleven weeks each. These commence respectively on the first Wednesdays of September, December, March and June, and are each succeeded by a vacation of two weeks.

CHARGES FOR TUITION

Per Term of eleven weeks, are as follows:—In Common English Branches, $3,00. In Higher English Branches, and in Latin and Greek, $3,50. Arithmetic, Geography, Elementary Grammar, and First Lessons in Composition, are considered as Common English Branches. All others taught in the Institution are ranked as Higher Branches.—An extra charge of $1,00 is made for instruction in French; $1,00 in Drawing; $1,50 in German; $10,00 for instruction in Music.

These charges are payable in advance; and no deduction is ever made, except in case of sickness for several successive weeks.

APPARATUS, MAPS AND PLATES.

Ample means of illustration are provided, to accompany the instruction in Natural Philosophy, Geography and Physiology. A superior set of Philosophical Apparatus, Maps and Plates, belong to the Institution, and are used in the daily recitations in those branches which they were designed to illustrate.

FRENCH, GERMAN AND MUSIC.

To those who wish to prosecute the study of French, German, and Music, the Institution offers peculiar advantages, in having secured for this Department the services of a graduate of the Royal Seminary at Dresden. As will be seen above, the charges for tuition in the Languages, are, in consequence of a large fund belonging to the Institution, little more than nominal.

MORAL EDUCATION.

It is the aim of the Principal to impress on the minds of the pupils a due sense of the value not only of practical knowledge, but of good habits, of a love of truth for its own sake, and especially of an acquaintance with religious truth.

Oral Biblical instruction is given daily in connection with the portion of the Scriptures read during the term; and it is intended to cultivate such habits of thought and feeling on the part of the pupils, that the exercise shall excite careful and critical investigation, and at the same time arouse the conscience and the heart.

Parents or Guardians sending children from abroad, whose habits of punctuality, and good moral character are not fully established, are requested to place them under the care of some responsible person, the Principal or some one else, who may promptly correct any deficiency, or report the same to the parents or guardians.

Attendance at church on the Sabbath is required by a standing rule of the Institution.

BOARD.

There is no Boarding House in connection with the School. Good board may, however, be readily obtained in families at a reasonable price.

LOCATION.

The Academy is situated in Hadley, Mass., on the stage road from Northampton to Amherst, two miles from the former, and four from the latter. Being thus near the Connecticut River Rail Road, it is very accessible, while the quiet of the town is peculiarly favorable for the purposes of the student. The healthy moral tone of the community, and intelligent character of the society, are still further considerations, which, added to the healthfulness of the climate, and beauty of the scenery, make the situation peculiarly attractive to those who may seek a place of safety and of promise for the education of their children.
